

Software architecture diagrams are very important when it comes to documenting a plan that allows us to help us visualize initiatives, implement any network changes, and stay ahead of what the organization needs. The software diagram should help explain the software's purpose and competition to both technical and non-technical audiences. I have added 2-way authentication to the design for added security, as well as payment security.